Rockville, MD—March 11, 2005 – Celebrating the best in local dining and nightlife, AOL®CityGuide (<http://www.aolcityguide.com/>) has announced its winners for the 2006 City's Best program, and Mayorga Coffee Factory in Silver Spring, MD has been named as the winner of the BEST COFFEEHOUSE category for the Washington, DC area. More than 300 businesses were nominated in each of the network's 37 major markets.

Mayorga Coffee Roasters, Inc. has enjoyed tremendous publicity since its inception over eight years ago as a boutique coffee importer and roaster. This family-owned and operated company prides itself on delivering “an authentic coffee experience”. “I am so proud of our entire staff. They work so hard every day to make sure that we provide a warm environment and great coffee products. It means a lot to have our valued customers recognize us like this,” states Kerry Mayorga, co-founder of Mayorga Coffee and VP of Retail Operations.

The Mayorga Coffee Factory has been an important community landmark since the very beginnings of the Silver Spring revitalization project. Its earthy, grassroots style is reflected throughout the 6,200 square foot space, and provides an environment equally appealing to young families and urbane citydwellers. With an ever-evolving food menu, in-house coffee roasting, famous Sunday brunch, and monthly calendar of live musical events, the coffeehouse is both a second home to loyal neighbors and a popular destination for visitors citywide. “We feel that the appeal of Mayorga resides, perhaps, in the fact that our shops are a true reflection our fundamental mission,” said co-founder Matthew Brown. “It is a passion for quality coffees, and a partnership with our communities both at home and abroad, that inspires us. At our shops, we are not trying to “sell” an image; we are simply embodying that vision.”

All City's Best™ establishments were nominated based on recommendations from AOL CityGuide's local correspondents who live and work in the cities they cover, the editorial insights of the CityGuide programming team, and user feedback. Consumers' votes and rankings ultimately determine which venues are elected #1 in their categories during the next four months, leading up to the announcement of the winners in March 2006.
